It is contraindicated in patients who are sensitive to any of its components.

Side effects/adverse reactions:

All the vitamins are generally very well tolerated. However, allergic and idiosyncratic reactions have been reported with specific vitamins.

Precautions:

This product is not intended for treatment of pernicious anaemia or other megaloblastic anaemias where vitamin B12 is deficient. Neurological involvement may develop or progress despite temporary remission of anaemia, in patients with vitamin B12 deficiency who receive supplemental folic acid and who are inadequately treated with Vitamin B12.

This product is not intended for treatment of severe specific deficiency. Pyridoxine may decrease the efficacy of levodopa in the treatment of parkinsonism. Therefore it should be used with caution in patients undergoing such therapy.

Dosage:

Oral administration.

1 to 2 tablets to be taken two to three times daily.

Symptoms and treatment of overdose:

Adverse effects arising from overdose is remote, as these are water-soluble vitamins, they are not stored to any significant extent in the body. Any excess are readily excreted.
